Dry Land

Emma Dean

You were the only one who knew me
The way I thought it should be
But one day you took my little hand
And plummeted us both in to dry landHow did we let ourselves slip away
I know it to be oh my big mistake
Sometimes all it takes if for someone else to run from you to make you find yourselfDo you even know this I can't tell?Now all I need is time just on my own
To get used to this body and it's knew home
Just thought I would say 'thanks' as I go on my way
Please tell me to stayDo you even want that anyway?
Do you have anything to say?
Do you even want that anyway?I froze up like a cube of ice
But even though you were so untrue
Somehow you could melt me like you do
Darn it darn it darn it you...You were the only one who knew me
The way I thought it should be
But one day you took my little hand
And plummeted us both in to dry land
