Opened

Kathryn Williams

Nights have fallen down on you
Because of him
Claustrophobic, sleeping hot
Law can't keep the power
That you want withinBut who is your future resting its head upon?
Will you love in the same way?
Or will it come back unopened?Change came unexpected
Like it always does
You either move with it
Or run away from it's clutches
But it will come backWhere is you future going to settle down?
Will you move pushing boundaries?
Or leave them unopened?
