

Perception Twin

The Butterfly Effect

Push me over the edges, push me over the edges

Suffocating the senses

You strip me defenseless, I know you

Images reflected

I'm raped and molested, touched by you

(And I won't hide till I've gone through)

Perception over reality

And what we see is not always what we see

Deeper inside

You'll find your eyes lie, judge not this time

Alone

Distorted dreams in the silence

No vital signs just the violence

Tortured frame is empty

Scars on my body just ghosts to remind me

I burn

Still reflection disturbs you

Twin perception unnerves you

Split in two

(your mirrors pushing back at you)

Beautiful brutality

Self-inflicted these cuts my company

Opposite sides of this coin

Try both sides

I'm yours you're mine

Alone

You scream like a symphony

Wicked trick has left me in agony

Your malfunction is needing

Vertical scars and proof of the bleeding

You burn

Your twin with you

Within the burning

Alone, you'll find

I am your twin

With you within alone

I burn....

I won't let you burn down.
