

Brand New Sunrise

Wet Wet Wet

City wins another fight
To take the day into the night
My shadows been around for too long
Daylight understands me, the part that's not alone
Hide and seek, they try to be discreet
Moonlight walks with me, sunset talks to me
But all I want from you is a brand new sunrise
Silently keeping what they are keeping
Moon clouds are flocking, streetlamps mockin'
Time to work it out somehow
But the day whispers someone, the night moves so slowly
He won't take it out on his head
Night walks away with the summer
Day gives into the fall
Moonlight walks with me, sunset talks to me
But all I want from you is a brand new sunrise
