The Last Time We Met

Daniel Mustard

Bubble bubble trial and trouble, baby burns and know this subtle.
And you end up getting to me.
Follow lines, fall down fast, never mind how long it lasts.
Baby ain't got nobody to be.

And who am I to drink my wine?
I know why we're refusing to see.
All this trouble trouble on the double, baby burns and cultures bubbling,
All over me.

It's not like it's the first time, you're someone next time.
Won't you remember to forget to forget.
How 'bout the last time we met?

Bubble bubble trial and trouble, baby burns and know this rubble
Has got on the better of me.
Stumble through and stumble past, never mind how much they ask
All a mellow number, nothing.

And who am I, to question why why why why?
Well I don't worry, that's how we should be.
All this trouble trouble on the double, baby burns and cultures bubbling,
All over me.

It's not it's like it's the first time, you're someone next time,
Won't you remember to forget to forget.
How 'bout the last time we met?

It's not it's like it's the first time, you're someone next time,
Won't you remember to forget to forget.
Hhow 'bout the last time we met?

Lyrics Submitted by Stephen Law

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/