

Lorraine's Song

Grayson Capps

Yesterday I had a dream
I could fly through the sky
And I woke up in a sweat
Not dead yet but on the ground

I'm up in Johnson City Tennessee
Looking for the way in me
Lord, fly me over Pontchartrain
Back to the land of sugar cane and summer rain

A good little girl is rarely told
Life was time and time was gold
She took a little every day
Until it went away
And she was old
And she cried 'cause her gold was gone
She cried 'cause she was all alone
Now she's calling to you in the dark
Just a hunter with a lonely heart
A lonely heart.

She's crying,
Never more shall we part
She's crying,
Never more shall we part

And all those words I never said
Gently bled from my mouth
And I'm ready to embrace
This place where I belong

I'm afraid but I need to love
If I don't I'm gone to flood
And I'm calling to you in the dark
Crying never more shall we part
Shall we part

She's crying,
Never more shall we part
Never more shall we part

She's crying,
Never more shall we part

Lyrics submitted by GÅ¶ksel SÅ¼nbÅ¼l.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>