

Breakin' My Heart

Ron Wood

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

Gotta stand firm go by what I say
If you don't, you'll never make a move out anyway
All that hassle to move away
You'll soon know when you hit USA
[Unverified]
[Unverified] L.A.They took my guitars away
I got nothing to play
Except for damage and debris
You get broken hearts for freeI wouldn't emphasize so much
If I didn't know just where to touch
Maybe for you the hurt is so good
Maybe you like it so muchMust be breaking your heart
Knowing that you have to leave
You have to listen what I say
Gonna put it really cleanTo get something good
You gotta want it really bad
To get something good
You gotta want it really badThis is where you need to learn
All you care about what's gone down before
You must have gone low down crazy
In order to get real wiseYou got to stand firm, believe
Believe and follow your nose
Because the market is much to tough
And nobody cares enoughWhen you're down on your luck
It's gonna have you off your knees
You have to listen what I say
Gonna put it really cleanIt must be breaking your heart
Knowing that you have to leave
You have to listen what I say
Gonna through it really cleanTo get something good
You gotta want it really bad
To get something good

You gotta want it really bad Well, are you never gonna need?
To be helped up off your knees
I think you surely know what I mean
You're never gonna need To be helped up off your knees
You must have gone low down crazy
In order to get real wise
You must have gone low down crazy In order to get really wise
Surely can't hurt you
Come on there, I know from facts
It must be breaking your heart
