It's Not Too Late

Justin Hayward

You say to me, why can't it be
Just like it was once before
Well you lead the way and I'll find the tree
And you catch the leaves as they fallDon't you know that it's not too late
The time's not past
Don't you know it's not too late
And even though I tell myself, all is lost
Somewhere there's a spark of hope
Somehow the world keeps turning
Promising a better day
Somewhere the spark is burning, awayIf we were free to do as we please
What would we change, you and I
To hold back the night, to do what is right
To live under bright blue, blue skyDon't you know that it's not too late
The time's not past
Don't you know it's not too late
And even though I tell myself, all is lost
But somewhere there's a spark of hope
Somehow the world keeps turning
Promising a better day
Somewhere the spark is burning, awayAs we look to the horizon
Way out on the sea
See the sun still rising
Just for you and meWhen we were young, life was so strange
So complicated, we would cry
But when we grow old
Will mystery hold us both in its spell as time goes byDon't you know that it's not too late
The time's not past
Don't you know it's not too late
And even though I tell myself, all is lost
Somewhere there's a spark of hope
Somehow the world keeps turning
Promising a better day
Somewhere the spark is burning, awayDon't you know that it's not too late
The time's not past
Don't you know it's not too late
And even though I tell myself, all is lost
Somewhere there's a spark of hope
Somehow the world keeps turning

Promising a better day
Somewhere the spark is burning, away
