

A Heart Like Yours In a Time Like This

Deportees

You said it with a broken voice
Softer than the stars
Whispers in forbidden ears
Someone had to know

You said you're running out of breath
You're tired of being brave
Of all the things you've said and done
This forever sticks in my mind somehow

Save it for another x7
Save it for another world

The speed of light, the speed of light won't bend
You're born too late, you're born too late my friend
Reminded how whenever I hear this song
I'll miss you when, I'll miss you when you're gone

There were times when I could read your mind
No secrets and no lies
And all I ever get from you
Are the words you speak to me in your sleep

This medal that you've never worn
You say you don't deserve
Of all the things you've said and done
This forever sticks in my mind somehow

Save it for another x7
Save it for another world

The speed of light, the speed of light won't bend
You're born too late, you're born too late my friend
Reminded how whenever I hear this song
I'll miss you when, I'll miss you when you're gone
