

Lionheart

Saxon

Raise your banners, raise them high
In your homeland hear the cry
From the battle, turn to home
Back to England to claim your throne
Six white horses, you must ride
Loyal comrades by your side
Prince of lions, the second son
Through the darkness the king will come
Lion, lionheart
Defender of the faith
Lion, lionheart
Protector of the state
Lionheart
Your crown awaits you, the chosen one
Tell the people that freedom's come
Light the beacons, ring the bells
Sing you minstrels there's tales to tell
Send the message across the land
The king returns with sword in hand
Law and order, he will restore
Evil tyranny will reign no more
Lion, lionheart
Defender of the faith
Lion, lionheart
Protector of the state
Lionheart, lionheart
Raise your banners, raise them high
In your homeland hear the cry
From the battle, turn to home
Back to England to claim your throne
Build your castles, guard the keep
Behind these walls the city sleeps
No more conflict, the blood is shed
Three gold lions on flags of red
Lion, lionheart
Defender of the faith
Lion, lionheart
Protector of the state
Lion, lionheart
Defender of the faith
Lion, lionheart
Protector of the state
Lionheart, lionheart
