Run Wild

Trills

Go down to the gates of the garden
Go down to the gates of the garden
Wait for dawn to come
Believe, that we will be pardoned.
Let the morning break
Let the morning break

Run from the night, set free the light
Bodies shaking rushing through the wild
Hear me calling, take my heart and jump

Steal through the gates
Whispers down the wire
Building your escape climbing higher and higher
As the morning breaks
Thereâ€™s freedom in your heart
Our sleeping souls awake, we move apart
Our eyes can only see, shadows in the dim
Do what you must, light comes bursting in
The world can turn away , away from me and you
Strength is in our bodies, they hold the truth

Run from the night, set free the light
Bodies shaking rushing through the wild
Run from the night, set free the light
Hear me calling, take my heart and jump

We rise up, towards the sun
We rise up up up up up
Towards the Sun

Weâ€™ll run wild
Weâ€™ll run wild
