

The Drum

Brisa RochÃ©

I can't say there's many things here
I would hold onto, take me back
I can't say I've felt many things here
 Yet that words can't describe
 Lately I've felt nothing I would
 Claim as profound, just alright
What if I'm not interested in what we find?
 I can't say there's anything here
 Now to hold onto, take me back
 I can't say I feel anything here now
 That words can't describe
 This city is alive, help me to try start over
I can change my ways, it's burning up my eyes
Help me to try start over, I can change my ways
 I could say I fear many things here
 I should hold onto, pull me back
 I could say there's so many things here
 Yet to learn, to define, it's burning up my eyes
I push the hand away, I'm not interested this time
 I think it's a mistake even if I want it
I know that I can change, feels different to me now
We're close enough now go, let's bring an end to this
