

Human Has No Name

Corey Cyr

It wont be long before the bombs
Fall upon you and I my friend.
So I look to the sky wondering why
The world cannot make amends.
Why do we fight all day and all night
Without no sight of end?
In a world gone wrong
All hope is gone.Human turns and yearns to feel
The feelings they hide inside.
But when they realize what they have
Their inside reality dies.
Their minds have gone blind, lost with rage
Lost with the rage in their eyes.
In a world gone wrong
All hope is gone.The winds blow softly to the tune
Of the paradoxes drum.
Driven madly by visions of those
Who've gone mentally numb.
Not thinking what's right for them
May not be right for some.
In a world gone wrong
All hope is gone.Gentle is the night with the moon
So overcast and wane.
To drown the sorrows of today
Along with tomorrow's pain.
Just like that bottle human has poured
All over his brains.
In a world gone wrong
All hope is gone.
