Three Days Since We Spoke

Ashley Stove

It's been three days since we spoke
Since you thought of me
I can tell by the way the air smells
The way the earth rotatesAnd it hurt my side
When I recognized it's all over now
And when I start to vilify you
It gets closer to the endBut I'm not waiting for you conclusion
You just want that one solution
You took out all the fun
Now I see how far you've comeIn the wintertime I smell diesel burning
It's a happy smell
And the chainsaw sound off in the background
Lifts my spirits upI saw something yesterday that you would've liked too
If I didn't dread hearing your opinion
I'd call to mention it to youBut I'm not waiting for you conclusion
You just want that one solution
You took out all the fun
Now I see how far you've comeFrom the daylight into the nighttime into the day
Careful consideration comes too late
I'm not waiting for your conclusion today
Cause you just want that one solution
Now you make your own conclusions
