Little Girl

A.Tone Da Priest

(Verse 1)
Crying out, a child claims her final day
With nothing to fight about, no rules of love stuck in her way
Trying out, so insecure looking for affirmation contemplating some kind of affection
With no connection, she left a shame alone and struggling to pretend
It could have been you or him, but it just so happened to be me
A ruined image of the light that she had seen
(Hook)
Good bye little girl, you use to be an angel
Now so far from comfort and dignity
A victim in this world, to love she is a stranger
So insecure she relies on tragedy (relies on tragedy)
(Verse 2)
Talking bout, whats on your mind for seven days
Youre just so roundabout; to the clock you are slave
Fighting out to take control of everything, sun and rain
Moving on when you dont understand the pain
Your day will come, bless cause all is one
Tell me what Ive done, cause we are left with none
No choice left to run from those who hurt you
You deserve, so much more
(Hook)

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/