Every Waking Moment

The Generators

Jennys got herself another broken heart
She tries to keep it together
But it always comes apartShe wears all the hurt
Ahe wears it like a charm
And she doesnt sleep at night
She lies awake
All night in the darkWith every waking moment
With every breath that she fights to take
There is just one more hopeless thought that shes goes on to contimplateJennys got herself another game to play
She got reasons oh way too many to nameShes gonna cut to the chase
Let the chips fall where they may
Shes going to pull out the pin
And watch it
Drop from this hand grenadeWith every waking moment
When all the walls just cave on in Any lights that used to shine
No longer finds
Its way on in
With every waking moment
Shes crawling right out from under her skin
All strung out and wired up
Ready for the big show to beginShes got a million reasons now
And the darkness is calling her out
And she cant figure it out
Its a one way ticket down
