

Fracture

Bombay Bicycle Club

When the light's out and all of the fracturing starts You're just paying for some action you lost in the dark You come down, holding tight, to the railing on the side You stayed up, left to dry, Now you're crumbling Now your guard's down and all of your timing has gone
You were patient
'till earth swallowed the last of the sun You come down, holding tight, to the railing on the side
You stayed up, left to dry, Now you're crumbling
