

Til the Casket Drops

ZZ Ward

It was the coldest night
Of the year
Snow covered street lamps and BelvedeerThe moon was just a sliver, the light was fading the war was on its way and we were waitingyou asked me how long I'd stay by your side so I answered with only just one replytil the casket drops til my dying days
til my heartbeat stops
til my legs just breakoh oh oh ohtil the casket dropsa house made out of glass was surely shattered we built a fortress red bricks and ladders
the ground started shakin the walls were falling we could have walked away we had a warningyou asked me
so I answered with only just one replytil the casket drops
til my dying days
til my legs just breakwoah oh woah oh oh
woah oh
woah oh ohtil the casket dropsso lay your burden down lead me out the door
we cant escape this ricochet I'm ready for this war so lay your burden down
we can't escape the ricochet I'm ready for this wartil the casket drops
til my dying days
til my legs just breaktil the casket drops
til my dying days

til my legs just break
