Let It Go (Faustix & Im

Dragonette

We get a little faded the colours go
Running out of all our clothes
And the flash don't light when the battery's lowWhen you could stamp a foot down through the floor
It's a better plan by far
To blow off the roof and let in the dark
So we better get startedAnd if I were you, I'd let go
And feel it all over inside like a chemical
'Cause to tell the truth
I don't know
If it's ever overWe don't need a cure for the weight of the world
'Cause it's floating round in the universe
Just swing it like it's tied by a string that you hold
And let it goWe could dig a hole right down into Somewhere as deep as black and blue
And fill it with a crowd and the sound of right nowAnd we could carve a tunnel under
And find out just how low it goes, it goes
And we run out of dirt on the other side when we see the lightWell if I were you, I'd look up
And find a place there in the sky where there's room enough
To spread it out, and look 'round
For where to land when you come downWe don't need a cure for the weight of the world
'Cause it's floating round in the universe
Just swing it like it's tied by a string that you hold and let it goLet it goLet it goWhen you could stamp a foot down through the floor
It's a better plan by far
To blow off the roof and let in the dark, let in the dark, dark, dark
So we better get started, started, started
Yeah we better get started, started, startedWe don't need a cure for the weight of the world
'Cause it's floating round in the universe
Just swing it like it's tied by a string that you hold
And let it goLet it go
Let it go
Let it go
