

Again

Kutless

Awakened from a dream again to a sunrise of Your own
How could I expect any more from the one who is so pure
Yet you gave up Your life and You still giving more
This must imply that,

Love again, again, again
I don't deserve this love You gave
Love again, again, again
I don't deserve this love You gave to me

A fountain flows with gifts from you
That I do nothing for You cover me with Your love though I nailed You to a cross
I don't understand but I thank you the same
This must imply that

Love again, again, again
I don't deserve this love You gave
Love again, again, again
I don't deserve this love You gave to me
