

One Last Drink

Enter The Haggis

I've had a life that's full
Everyone's been good to me
So fire up that fiddle, boy
And give me one last drink
When the sun comes up
I will leave without a fight
the world is mine tonight
Old John on his deathbed cried:
I Think I will wait 'til tomorrow to die
The sun is shining, birds do sing
This, sir, is no day to go"Up and out the door

CHORUS:
I've had a life that's full
Everyone's been good to me
So fire up that fiddle, boy
And give me one last drink
When the sun comes up
I will leave without a fight
the world is mine tonight
Took young Molly by the hand
Spun her 'round and back again
Clicked his heels, bowed his head

Never a tear in his eye
They carried on 'til five
I've had a life that's full
Everyone's been good to me
So fire up that fiddle, boy
And give me one last drink
When the sun comes up
I will leave without a fight

the world is mine tonight
So raise a glass to the dear departed(ones) x3
Room was full of all his friends
Never a funeral, this was the end
Drank to all who lent their hand

Everyone drank to John
Raised a glass and said, I've had a life that's full
Everyone's been good to me
So fire up that fiddle, boy
And give me one last drink
When the sun comes up
I will leave without a fight
the world is mine tonight
I've had a life that's full
Everyone's been good to me
So fire up that fiddle, boy

And give me one last drink
When the sun comes up
I will leave without a trace the world was mine today
