

Your Love

Keane

I didn't want to go
Go back and look for you
But it's a heartless drug
I'm addicted to And when I drive that road
And start to feel that chill
I think I see your face
Do you come here still? Those were the times and these were the places
Your love was so good
And now that I'm here I suddenly find that
I'm tumbling backward And back to where I was before
Dreaming of glory and your love
And now I'm lying on your floor
Crashed on the surface of your love The chemicals react
The molecules collide
The poison works its way
Somewhere down inside When we were young
I really believed love would never leave us
But time has a knack of pulling the rug out from underneath us And nothing matters anymore
I'm still a victim of your love
And now I'm banging on your door
Tumbling backwards with your love
Over and over with your love I know they're only ghosts and memories that I'm clutching on
And maybe I'm reaching back for something I never had Still it seems so real to me
These ragged threads that lead me back to you (Losing my mind waiting for you) And back to where I was before
Tumbling backwards with your love
And now I'm lying on your floor
Crashed on the surface of your love Where the other dreams we had,
Fractured and frozen with your love
You put a spell upon me there
To never be broken with your love Nowhere to run to but your love
Over and over with your love

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>