

World That Breaks

Britt Nicole

I see it everyday, we say its only living
Like life is only pain
I see heartbreak on every face
Hurt we cant erase, dreams that fade away
Like were all just lost at sea We need, we need an answer
A hope and an end to the searching
We need, we need a portrait of grace
Just one steady thing in a world that aches
In a world that breaks Somehow before life began You saw broken man
But You had a perfect plan
You would send your only Son
The holy gift of love
And He would be enough to erase all the pain of man And You are, You are the answer
The hope and the end to the searching
You are, You are the portrait of grace
Youre the one steady thing in a world that aches
In a world that breaks You are, You are the answer
You are, You are the answer
You are, You are the answer
Jesus, You are, are And You are, You are the answer
The hope and the end to the searching
You are, You are the portrait of grace
Youre the one steady thing And You are, You are the answer
The hope and the end to the searching
You are, You are the portrait of grace
Youre the one steady thing in a world that aches
In a world that breaks, in a world that aches
In a world that breaks
