For You, and Your Denial

Yellowcard

4 a.m., you called to spit some fire out
Did you think that I would listen to you now?
It's nothing new so get in line with all the rest
And I will wait 'til you realize you're out of breathCan you hear the crowd? They all go wild
For you and your denial watching you break down
Hate me all you want, I'll be okay
I'm half the world away, I'm letting you go nowYou got sadness twisted-up with jealousy
Show your fists to make them look like loyalty
And I have seen what holding on can take away
If it's the past you love then that's where you can stayCan you hear the crowd? They all go wild
For you and your denial watching you break down
Hate me all you want, I'll be okay
I'm half the world away, I'm letting you go nowDesperation kills
When it's on your sleeve you wear it well
Underneath it all
You'll always have this war inside yourselfI'm letting you go nowCan you hear the crowd? They all go wild
For you and your denial watching you break down
Hate me all you want, I'll be okay
I'm half the world away, I'm letting you go nowI'm letting you go now
