Goodbye Suzie

John Howard

Last nights guest have left behind
Their masks their moneybags and dead bottles of wine
Now the streets are so quiet on this rainy night in September
As the train slowly pulls away into the misty downpour

Chorus
Ah goodbye Suzie, this town will soon forget you
Goodbye Suzie this town will soon forget you x2

Last years trophies reflect the sun
As the nurse climbs the stars to cure the aftermath of fun
Now the tide is coming in on the windswept day in November
On the beach walks a girl in blue into the misty sea spray

Chorus

Cause in the morning all the shops will be open
And by the evening all the bars will be full
And after midnight all the streets will be reeking
Of the drink that drowns the sorrow and life will still go on until tomorrow

Last weeks story lies on the ground
A girl in blue discovered drowned
Suzie James, her father wealthy, her mother gone
On this snowy day in December
Down the street come relations all tryin to cry their tears

Chorus
