There's Nothing

Shout Out Louds

It's a dream that's never ending
It's a dream that's always out of hand
There's nothing I can do about
Because this dream is out of my command
There are songs that should never be written
There are words that never should be said
There's nothing I can do about it
Because the words are always in my head
There's nothing
There's nothing

They say that I should always listen
They say that I should be aware
But there is nothing I can do about it
I just want to make them disappear
There's nothing
There's nothing
There's nothing I can do to make them disappear
There is nothing that's never ending
There are words that are never easy to say
Oh, there's nothing
