Sam Stone

John Prine

Sam stone came home to his wife and family

After serving in the conflict overseas

And the time that he served, had shattered all his nerves

And left a little shrapnel in his kneeBut the morphine eased the pain

And the grass grew round his brain

And gave him all the confidence he lacked

With a purple heart and a monkey on his backThere's a hole in daddy's arm where all the money goes

Jesus Christ died for nothin' I suppose

Little pitchers have big ears, don't stop to count the years

Sweet songs never last too long on broken radiosSam stone's welcome home, didn't last too long

He went to work when he'd spent his last dime

And Sammy took to stealing when he got that empty feeling

For a hundred dollar habit without overtimeAnd the gold rolled through his veins

Like a thousand railroad trains

And eased his mind in the hours that he chose

While the kids ran around wearin' other peoples' clothesThere's a hole in daddy's arm where all the money goes

Jesus Christ died for nothin' I suppose

Little pitchers have big ears, don't stop to count the years

Sweet songs never last too long on broken radiosSam stone was alone when he popped his last balloon

Climbing walls while sitting in a chair

Well, he played his last request while the room smelled just like death

With an overdose hovering in the airBut life had lost its fun

And there was nothing to be done

But trade his house that he bought on the G. I. Bill

For a flag draped casket on a local heroes' hillThere's a hole in daddy's arm where all the money goes

Jesus Christ died for nothin' I suppose

Little pitchers have big ears, don't stop to count the years

Sweet songs never last too long on broken radios
