Time Stands Still

Uh Huh Her

All I want is for my time with you to slow down Don't really make it in town like I used to So for now All I want is for my time with you to slow down Don't really make it in town like I used to So for now I appreciate your patience What am I doin' without you? Never hear no bad shit out here In the streets about you Love just must have made you smart Jealousy is the counterpart Life has made us stripped apart No more willing to embark But we remained friends throughout All those years from then to now Both those feelings trust and doubt Argue until you storm out Other dude gave you a kid He didn't have you like I did I pieced you out and then y'all broke up And you called me again Drunk and crying on the phone Next flight out you gon' be home Flight delayed, I still wait Call me when you reach the gate Pick you up at baggage claim

'Cause you and your son
Look like you and my son
All I want is for my time with you to slow down

Don't really make it in town like I used to
So for now

Tunnel vision just begun

All I want is for my time with you to slow down
Don't really make it in town like I used to
So for now

All I need is more time
Is having you right beside me, you're mine
And only for a couple minutes more, slow down

Somebody say five and time a pillow
Know that if I could then I would pay full time
On some major shit, slow down
Dodgin' every minute like a bullet
Somebody say five and time a pillow
Let me get your bags out of the truck
Get the keys and go upstairs
Cover tattoos on your arm
That's just memories, souvenirs
We got plans tonight
We goin' to the cheese cake factory
And drink a little and reminisce about
How you used to laugh at me
You didn't think I would go too far
I mean being from Compton and all
But still I grabbed some corks, some yarn

But still I grabbed some corks, some yarn
And rubber and made myself a ball

I know your momma proud of me 'Cause she looked down on me

She knew I had it She said that I would make it if I just stayed at it

Now how's your niece
The one who used to stay with you
When you lived on over by the street
The one who like my nephew Kiana

She used to do her hair like Rihanna

You remember my

Why you kiss me when I'm talking?

Just had to bring back all them old memories

So you ready to go?

You sure you don't wanna another drink?

Okay, let me get the check

All I need is more time

Is having you right beside me, you're mine
And only for a couple minutes more, slow down
Somebody say five and time a pillow
Know that if I could then I would pay full time

On some major shit, slow down
Dodgin' every minute like a bullet
Somebody say five and time a pillow, a pillow, a pillow

All I want is for my time with you to slow down Don't really make it in town like I used to

So for now

All I want is for my time with you to slow down Don't really make it in town like I used to
