

Fear of Light

Dax Johnson

Evidence it's the air that you breathe all your illusions will have to go away here Hold on till you're faceless, he'll fear the moment, she'll have the grace and She won't cry for you anymore hide in your hideaways bleed for you, yeah
She found herself breathing broken glass, prepared for the world to pass Hunting for the day
she was everything to you that day she was everything to you, now she's nothing again Be folter if you wanna, all your confusions will hunt us don't desere co's it feels right He'll have the moment, she'll fear the light She won't cry for you anymore hide in your hideaways bleed for you, yeah
She found herself breathing broken glass, prepared for the world to pass
Hunting for the day she was everything to you That day she was everything to you, now she's nothing again She's like a candle, a light to my way all through the day
She's like a candle, a light to my way all through the day It's the fear of the light the fear of the light
the fear of the light
the fear of the light She won't cry for you anymore hide in your hideaways bleed for you, yeah
She found herself breathing broken glass, prepared for the world to pass
Hunting for the day she was everything to you
That day she was everything to you, now she's nothing again nothing again Heritage it's the air that you breathe all your illusions will have to go away Hold on till you're faceless he'll fear the moment, she'll have the grace and She won't cry for you anymore hide in your hideaways bleed for you, yeah
She found herself breathing broken glass, prepared for the world to pass
Hunting for the day
she was everything to you that day
she was everything to you, now she's nothing again nothing again..

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>