

About You

Distorted Penguins

You know how the story goes, boy meets girl, falls in love with girl
Doesn't want no one but he wants her
How it ends nobody knows, but they might end up together
Either way he's ever-changed by her Sleepless nights never ending days
Wandering 'round in a help-less daze
Know where my interest lies
Deep inside your bright brown eyes
Don't ever question how I feel inside. You may say I'm crazy, well I'm crazy about you
Can you blame me? You know how the days go by life's never been much better
Realize now he never had a clue
About what love really is but it looks like he's enlightened
This time, He's a man brand-new. Love, me like you do
And it will come right back to you
Don't ever question how I feel inside. You may say I'm crazy well I'm crazy about you
Can you blame me?
