Answered Prayer

Keri Noble

You are the answered prayer
That I thought was never heard
But here you are in front of me
And I admit, I'm finding it hard to breathe and I believe
In answered prayerI put away what I thought was youthful faith
But someone must have heard my silent cry
For here you are before my eyes
And now you know that you are the reason why I believe
In answered prayerSome may try to convince me
That this is what everyone else feels
But I know that God and I are the only ones
Who ever heard my appeal, that's whyYou are the answered prayer
That I thought was never heard
But here you are in front of me
And I admit that I'm finding it hard to breathe
And I believe in answered prayer
You are my answered prayer
