To the Light

Freebo

Iâ€™ve heard it said
The earth looks peaceful
When itâ€™s seen from outer-space
Such a pretty place for you and me

How do we hear the wisdom
Of the crickets in the night?
Singing out of sight
From way down here
Way down here
Where thereâ€™s only right or wrong
Why canâ€™t we just try to get along?

Iâ€™ve heard it said (Echo: Iâ€™ve heard it said)
Thereâ€™s a hundred million galaxies at night
Lighting up the night for you and me

We could be (Echo: We could be)
Just as peaceful as the earth from outer-space
Living in a place of harmony
Harmony, oh such a lovely sound
Why do we put one another down?

Just consider that there is no wrong or right
And consider that there is no black or white
There are always shades of grey
To help us find our way to the light

(Echo: To the light) To the light
Iâ€™ve heard it said (Echo: Iâ€™ve heard it said)
Every culture has a history in stone
Dances of their own they like to do

Wouldnâ€™t you (Echo: Wouldnâ€™t you)
Like to be accepted just the way you are?
Is that really hard to see?
Couldnâ€™t we find a way to understand?
Blow away that line in the sand

Just consider that there is no wrong or right

And consider that there is no black or white
There are always shades of grey
To help us find our way to the light

(Echo: To the light) To the light
De de de (Echo: De de de)
De de de (Echo: De de de)
De de de (Echo: De de de)
De de deeee
De de de (Echo: De de de)
De de de (Echo: De de de)
De de de (Echo: De de de)
De de deeee

There are always shades of grey
To help us find our way to the light
To the light
To the light
To the light

Iâ€™ve heard it said
The earth looks peaceful
When itâ€™s seen from outer-space
Such a pretty place for you and me
