

To Die a Bitter Death

Morning Again

when all is said and done you've risen to the expectations but whose goals have really been met you never thought you were inflicted unknowingly, you dia a bitter death are you willing to accept this role you've played no part in where your life has ledi won't die the same destined to die a bitter deathpresented as perfection
by character and design have you really been left without much choice

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>