

You Wanted A Hit

Lcd Soundsystem

You wanted a hit but maybe we don't do hits
I try and try, it ends up feeling kind of wrong
You wanted it tough but is it ever tough enough?
No, nothing's ever tough enough until we hit the road
Yeah, you wanted it lush but honestly you must hush
No honestly you know too much so leave us, leave us on our own
And so you wanted a hit, well, this is how we do hits
You wanted the hit but that's not what we do
You wanted it real but can you tell me what's real?
There's lights and sounds and stories, music's just a part
Yeah, you wanted the truth and then you said you want proof
I guess you're used to liars saying what they want
And we won't be your babies anymore
We won't be your babies anymore
We won't be your babies anymore
'Til you take us home
No, we won't be your babies anymore
We won't be your babies anymore
We can't be your babies
'Til you take us home
Yeah, you wanted it smart but honestly I'm not smart
No, honestly we're never smart, we fake it, fake it all the time
Yeah, you wanted the time but maybe I can't do time

Oh, we both know that's an awful line but it doesn't make it wrong
You wanted it right, no out of mind and out of sight
No dirty bus and early flight, no seven days and forty nights
Yeah, you wanted a hit but tell me where's the appointment?
You wanted the hit but that's not what we do
And we won't be your babies anymore
We won't be your babies anymore
We won't be your babies anymore
'Til you take us home
No, we won't be your babies anymore
We won't be your babies anymore
We can't be your babies
'Til you take us home
And we won't be your babies anymore
We won't be your babies anymore

We won't be your babies anymore
'Til you take us home
No, we won't be your babies anymore
We won't be your babies anymore
We can't be your babies
'Til you take us home
