

Islands

Cazadores

ISLANDS

There she drew Excalibur and tore my shirt open
In the cold when we were saving it for the future
Those streets were paved with gold, covered in ashes
I watched her move with the speed of sound
With my feet stuck on the ground

Breaking the waves
I set sail for the islands in my mind
Chasing a tale that's untold
We never crossed the line

To the lost boy castaway she was a vision
But this life unstoppable brought ice to her lashes
I watched her shadow dance like fire
Through the haze of frost and smoke
Could you feel it then
I can feel it now

Breaking the waves
I set sail for the islands in my mind
Chasing a tale that's untold
We never crossed the line
Can you hear the sirens calling
Bridges are burning
Feel my chest beating
Into the islands Iâ€™m bringing this

Every time we go out, down these same old familiar roads
Every day it's the same, we live our lives in different ways
If you canâ€™t look me in the eye how can you say youâ€™re my best friend
Does it mean anything at all if you never see me again

Breaking the waves
I set sail for the islands in my mind
Chasing a tale that's untold
We never crossed the line
Can you hear the sirens calling
Bridges are burning

Feel my chest beating
Into the islands Iâ€™m bringing this
