

I Should Know

The Mavericks

Every night alone
And every night I spent without you
Every little thing about you
Runs right through my mind I wonder where you are
And do you ever think about me
And if you get the feeling that
There's something missing too But I should know
You'll never come back to me
Even though I will always love you
I should know I'm the one to blame
Something I did fine without you
I just fooled myself
And tell me every thing's alright And every night alone
And every night I spent without you
Every little thing about you
Runs right through my mind But I should know
You'll never come back to me
Even though I will always love you
I should know I should know
You'll never come back to me
Even though I will always love you
I should I should know
You'll never come back to me
Even though I will always love you
I should know

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>