Impossible World

The Reign of Kindo

Fire and Ice,
Darkness and the sweet glowing light
Stories of old
And days that still have yet to unfold
The heart and the soul
Chaotic and the under control
All our hopes and our fears
The thrills and miseries we hold near
All the pains for the joys,
The smiles for the tears in our eyes
The stars in the sky
Glimmer through the blanket of night
The smell of the air
Breathing out our every despair
The beauty our eyes
Behold as we embark on our lives
And as the Earth makes its way
Traversing us between night and day
Every moment we're alive is absurdity for all we can tell
Impossible world, impossible world, I couldn't dream you up
Impossible world, impossible world
I couldn't dream you up
For the miles I've traveled far and wide, there are sights for my eyes to see
For the moments passing here and now, there's no place I'd rather be
Oh world, impossible world I couldn't dream you up
Oh world, impossible world, impossible world
Lovely the songs, of lovers who have lasted so long
Whose spirits are drawn together like the eve into dawn
And lovely the songs, of spirits to whom no one belongs
And how blessed are the souls who've lived to tell their stories of old
And how blessed are the young who've only just begun on their own
Impossible world, impossible world, I couldn't dream you up
Impossible world, impossible world
I couldn't dream you up.
For the miles I've traveled far and wide, there are sights for my eyes to see
For the moments passing here and now, there's no place I'd rather be
Oh world, impossible world I couldn't dream you up
Oh world, impossible world, impossible world.
