

What I Wished I Never Had

We Came As Romans

Don't catch me at the wrong time
Or you will feel my wrath
The one i wished I never had
Wished i never hadI need to rid myself of resentment
And every last bit of it
If I'm going to live up to the things I've written
I need to clear my mind of this anger
And all the rage that I've held near
If I'm going to live up to the words I've spokenBut I haven't yet
Letting go
Is how I can start to fight my way
Out of this trench I've dug
In this war against myself
In this war against myself
But I haven't yet
But I haven't yetDon't catch me at the wrong time
Or you will feel my wrath
The one i wished I never had
Wished i never hadI wish I never had this demon inside
I wish I knew how to cast it out
I wish I never had this demon inside
I wish I knew how to cast it outBut I fear it will never leave me
But I fear it will never leave meI need to rid myself of resentment
And every last bit of it
If I'm going to live up to the things I've written
I need to clear my mind of this anger
And all the rage that I've held near
If I'm going to live up to the words I've spokenLetting go, Just let it go
I know, I know
Letting go, Just let it go
I know, I know
Letting go, Just let it go
I know, I know
Letting go, Just let it go
I know, I knowI know I need to let go
Of everything that ever has Ever made me think myself better
I'm not better than anyone else
Of anything that's filled me with anger

That I have taken out on everyone else
On everyone else These demons will never leave me
I can only find ways to not let them out
These demons will never leave me
But I control them, Not the other way around
