Red and Blue

The Cliks

I'd hoped to turn your world around
but you let go
you changed your mind

Its hard enough to see this through
Why cant you look me in the eye
And what did you think
I turned into
And what did you think
I'd do for you

You cut off my hands
To hide the truth
And make me the liar inside you

I know we have to burn this down
I see we're flying way too high
And now I see so dangerous
You're always trying to take whats mine

And what did you think
That I would do
While you paint it red
I paint it blue

I cut off my hands
To bury the truth
Forever the liar inside you

How 'bout shaping for anybody else
'Cuz everytime I fail
It seems I lose myself

I'd hoped to turn your world around
But you let go
You changed your mind

But now I can not see this through Already wasted too much time
And now there is nothing I could do

You still paint it red and I ll feel blue

I keep in my hands
Thats what I'll do
And show you the liar
I ll show you the liar
Inside you
Inside you
Inside you
Inside you
