

Ghost In The Machine

Black Lab

Tell me where am I supposed to go?
And who am I supposed to believe?
If only you knew what I knew
Then you could see just what I see
So I grab my bags and go as far away as I can go
'Cause everything ain't what I used to know
And I try to hide but I just can't hide no more
There's nothing worse than feeling like a ghost
You say I look fine, if only you knew what was on my mind
You'd see a whole different sign, I couldn't show you even if I tried
I must have got lost in time when I found out
I was only free to be where ever I want to be
Some say I'm out of sight, how I run and that we're all so blind
If you could open up your eyes, you could see what I couldn't describe
And then, you'd see the signs and then your soul would be set free
And then you'd be released
So I grab my bags and go as far away as I can go
'Cause everything ain't what I used to know
And I try to hide but I just can't hide no more
There's nothing worse than feeling like a ghost
Tell me, where am I supposed to go?
And who am I supposed to believe?
If only you knew what I knew
Then you could see, hey
So I grab my bags and go as far away as I can go
'Cause everything ain't what I used to know
And I try to hide but I just can't hide no more
There's nothing worse than feeling like a ghost
And I'm terrified like I've seen a UFO
'Cause everything ain't what I used to know
And I try to hide but I just can't hide no more
There's nothing worse than feeling like a ghost
I go, a UFO
And I'm so tired of hiding
I've been running, I've been trying
To get away, to get away
So I grab my bags and go as far away as I can go
'Cause everything ain't what I used to know
And I try to hide but I just can't hide no more

There's nothing worse than feeling like a ghost
