

All That You Built

Land of Trees

Will you start a wind
when you whittle that loud?
When you don't cry
You'll create a cloud
Her place will break
When your limit is reached
Tsunamis will follow
Hitting the beach
Oh no

And now the rain is dancing
On the broken roof
And all you ever wanted
Was the truth
This storm is taking all the remains
And all that you built is brought down in flames
Oh no
All that you built is brought down in flames
Oh no

The people are fighting
Yet you happily stand
Swim all you can
But you never reach land
The current is controlling
You're trying to breathe
Thinking of something that no one else can feel
Picture yourself planting a seed
Growing a tree, wrapped by your feet

This storm is taking all the remains
And all that you built is brought down in flames
This storm is taking all the remains
And all that you built is brought down in flames
Oh no
All that you built is brought down in flames
Oh no
All that you built is brought down in flames

This storm is taking all the remains

And all that you built is brought down in flames

Lyrics Submitted by Freakx

Lyrics provided by
<https://damlyrics.com/>