

Black Roses

Astorian Stigmata

I wanna tear off all my skin
And dance around in my skeleton
I wanna rip apart my bones
And show all the world,
Show all the world my soul

Cause I've got a friend inside my head
I've got a friend inside my heart
But those two don't get along
They don't get along no more

And it's no way to keep the peace
By forgetting about the war
So hang on tight to letting go
Do you remember when
There was no need to remember when?
The night before young became old

Cause you are the devil that lives inside my veins
And you are the devil that don't ever say my name
And I give you everything you want
And you take it all, You take it all from me

Like the autumn sheds the summers leaves
My soul sheds the minds memories
Of that year I died every night
In the arms of the stars
And as the moonlight danced across your face
Your mouth was silent
But your breath it begged for a new life
A thousand years away from here

And it's no way to keep the peace
By forgetting about the war
So hang on tight to letting go
Do you remember when
There was no need to remember when?
The night before young became old

Cause you are the devil that lives inside my veins

And you are the devil that don't ever say my name
And I give you everything you want
And you take it all, You take it all from me

I wanna tear off al my skin
And dance around in my skeleton
I wanna rip apart my bones
And show all the world,
Show all the world my soul

---

Lyrics submitted by brooke colson.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>