

One Piece at a Time

Steve Ivey

Where do you go when your dreams are broken, shattered and scattered, laying on the ground?
Where do you go when all hope seems to have vanished?
There's only one place to turn it around.

God will gather the pieces,
He can see the master design.
Just put your trust in Him,
and He'll build your life again,
one piece at a time.

Life can turn in a moment, your whole world crashing,
crumbled and defeated, you wanna run and hide.
Life can turn back around, it may be a long journey.
There's peace along the way with God at your side

God will gather the pieces,
He can see the master design.
Just put your trust in Him,
and He'll build your life again,
one piece at a time.

one piece at a time.
