

I'm a Robot

Michael Blaney

I AM A ROBOT

(This song is about feeling your voice is not heard, and that you are a product of what that person or persons constant stigma toward you ends up doing)

I will wait for your next assignment
I am not human I will wait for your transmission
These are not tears that you see
I need an oil replacement
I am not more than the man that you see
Im a robot
Im a robot
Im a robot
I am robotic I can follow any equation
I am not human dont ask for my feeling i have none
My heart was made of stone
You should know
You made it
Im a robot
Im a robot
Im a robot
The part of me that you love is gone
I am just shell
The part of me that loves
Is gone I am just an empty shell
I should be so lucky to have any human love me
Cause I Am nothing more than robotic
What you say can not hurt me
I am just a fiber of a soul
I am part of you cause you made me
But I function like a coffee maker
You give and you take and I will give back but there is no love inside of me
I am just stainlness steel tell me what I should feel
Im a robot
Im a robot
Im a robot

Lyrics Submitted by Michael Blaney

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlyrics.com/>