

Again

Moss Agate

Been Contemplatin' what's goin' down, anticipatin' pain all around, see no solution without startin' it all again. Politicians make all the dough, as populations pay for the show, criticisms..right out the door again. Broken people on broken paths keep waiting for time to pass their way again. A flash of lightning lights up the sky, while clouds of darkness obscure our eyes, it'll take a strong wind to clear our minds again. Broken People on broken paths keep waiting for time to pass their way again. Hearts are achin' for those who died, earth's all muddy from those who cried, the turmoil flag's flyin' from the World's flagpole. Broken people on broken paths keep waiting for time to pass their way again. It won't pass their way again. It won't pass their way again. It won't pass their way again.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>