

Formaldehyde

Desperate Journalist

You are a body moving through space
Notice the time, notice the place
When you are gone, will they forget your face?

Body in space, body in space
When you are gone, will they forget your face?
When you are gone, will they forget your face?

You are a person, just like them too
You can't choose your feelings, you choose what you do
When you are gone, who will remember you?

Like them too, you are like them too
When you are gone, who will remember you?
When you are gone, who will remember you?
When you are gone, who will remember you?
