

Sometimes, New Jersey

Saves the Day

I called you up to see if maybe we could hang out
And I told you I was nervous and feeling lonely
But I bit my lip and you said yes And I thought of how beautiful the night would be
And I thought maybe we could drive around
Talking about your town or we could just stay at home
And I could win over acting cool just like real romance

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>