

Milk and Honey

Sleepyard

I've had better days
Days when the milk and the honey
    It poured into me, yeah
    And I've had better times
    When I was up on my feet
    And not down on my knees, yeah
    Now I want me and my
    To go where there's milk and there's honey
    And take what we need, yeah
    Across that finish line
    We'll see that we're running for nothing with
    No one to beat, yeah
    And every day I feel the same thing
    That you and I know we'll find our way again
    We are all on the same road if you understand
        Let's do what we can
        And I've had better times
        Times when the milk and the honey
        It poured like a stream, yeah
        And right before my eyes
        People were giving into need
        And not into greed, yeah
        And every day I feel the same thing
        That you and I, we will find our way again
        We are all on the same road if you understand
            Let's do what we can
            That's why I say a prayer for you now
            I'll say another prayer for you and me
        And though I know we'll never hear the answer
            I'll say another prayer for you and me
            And so I'll say another prayer for you now
            I'll say another prayer for you and me
        And though I know we'll never hear the answer
            I'll say another prayer for you and me, and me
                And every day I feel the same thing
            That you and I know we'll see those days again
            We are all on the same road if you understand
                Let's do what we can
                And I've had better days

Days when the milk and the honey
It poured into me, yeah, yeah
