

Control

Kill Your Idols

There is a lot of debating about whos controlling who but i have something to tell you there is someone controlling you be a boss or a teacher a god or a parent your answering to someone and your suffering from it from birth to death were told what to do answering to people who are no better than you its easy to point fingers verbally rebel actions will speak louder than the words we fucking yell. CHORUS:dont give in and do whats wrong dont give in learn to be strong others can be affected by what you do do unto others as they do to you society figures try to hold us down its hard to get things going while lying on the ground always be ready to make a sneak attack and when you get the chance take your power back REPEAT CHORUS
