Chances (Gone Too Soon)

Dyan

Ooh

had i known this would end so damn quickly after all that time we spoke i realized the distance between you and i and its going its going its gone its going its gone to soon do what we can impossible whats wrong with me do you can tell the airplane tail tuned on your chest a mark of for the heart you raised lets keep this light im leaving continue distancing yourself from the life you cant relieve your cutting up with all that grieving

and its going its gone to soon the lance that broke the cello i took as a sign i know may descend the signals waste my time you could have asked i would have stayed behind
